COMPANION CROPPING URGED

Maximum Production Can Only Be Obtained by Careful Study and Strict Attention to Various Little Details.

(Prepared by the United States Depart-ment of Agriculture.) Southern gardens begin to look seedy about June 10, gardens in the Middle states section are in the height of their glory, and the New England gardens are just getting well started. It seems to be a foregone conclusion on the part of most persons throughout the Southern states that southern gardens can be grown only in the spring and in the fall, with a few chance hardy crops during the winter. The farmer of the middle section plants his spring-garden, then gets busy with farm crops, and very little further attention is given the garden, unless the work is done by the women. In the New England states and parts of the Northwest where the growing season is quite short only one cropof most vegetables can be grown. In the middle section, however, two Piling Manure in This Manner Permits crops can often be grown on the same land, and, more important still, a contimuous supply of peas, beans, sweet-
